

Hymn 700

(Supplement 1 in selectiebundel)

Hymn voor Oud en Nieuw

The image shows three staves of musical notation for three voices. The first staff is for 'Great', the second for 'hearts', and the third for 'view'. The lyrics are as follows:

Great God, to thee we come,
And so solemnly confess,
Our hearts are prone to roam
From paths of righteousness;
We

view the year al-ready past,
And see great cause to be abashed.

The notation consists of vertical stems with small circles at specific points, indicating pitch and rhythm. The stems are grouped by vertical dashed lines, and horizontal dashed lines indicate measure boundaries. The first staff has a key signature of one sharp, and the second and third staves have a key signature of one flat.
